Catalyst for Hope

“You are correct - there are no funds available on the back end to help parents after the adoption [is finalized]. I can’t think of a federal role for post-care... If we want to be a culture that promotes life - and certainly advocates the expansion of adoption - we should talk about such things.”

U.S. House of Representatives office, April 2011

Adoptive Families

— COALITION —

- Filling a gap since 2012
- Offering a unique sponsorship program
- Giving hope to parents desperate for resources

Notable Accomplishments

- 40 sponsorship families
- 50 children given the opportunity for funding for therapeutic treatment
- Hundreds of parents encouraged through phone conversations and offered a variety of resources in addition to the sponsorship program.
- 100 calls in 2017 searching for average of $100,000 each = $10 million!!

She did it!

Consequences for Trauma Victims

Sad, unwanted consequences:

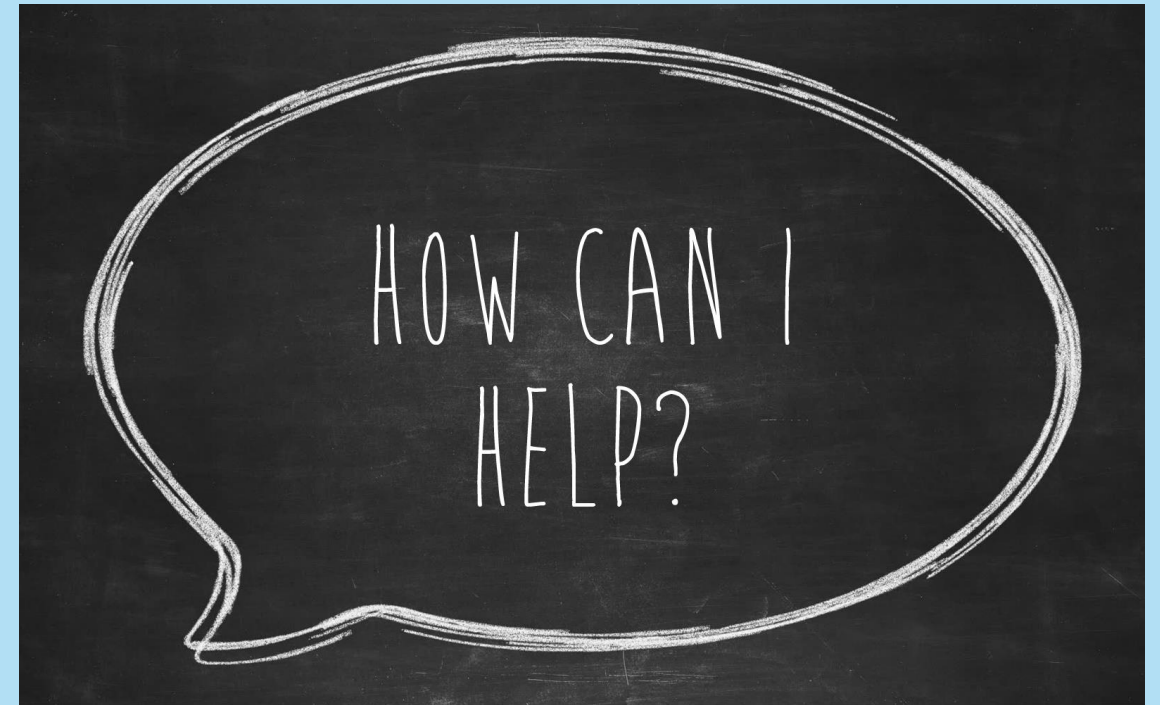

- Disrupted families with child's painful behaviors
- Broken marriages
- Risk of incarceration, homelessness, long term institutionalization and/or death
- Dangerous threat to family and/or society
- Greater financial cost to society of estimated 1.3 million dollars in public funding for lifetime care through service providers and institutional care

Desirable consequences:

- Family well-being
- Saved marriages
- Avoid incarceration, homelessness, lifetime institutionalization and untimely death
- Safety for self, family and society
- Early intervention dollars well-spent negating millions for adult care
